The results are used to determine initial course placements in reading, writing and mathematics. College-level courses at Normandale are numbered 1000 and above. Developmental courses (below college-level) are numbered below 1000. Some students may receive placement into developmental courses. While these courses do not count towards a college degree they do count towards eligibility for financial aid, insurance and academic progress. Your assessment results in reading and writing are valid for three years; math results are valid for two years. An Admissions Representative can review your score report with you if you need help understanding what the placement results mean. Call (952) 358-8201 or visit the Office of Admissions.
